ABOUT ROADS TO RECOVERY

Roads to Recovery is a parent founded, 501 (c) (3) non profit organization serving families in the greater Dayton area who face autism spectrum disorders. Our resource centers offer families prepared therapy/educational space for their individualized educational programs. We also offer community outreach services through our Autism Scholarship Provider services, free educational workshops, and free family fun events for special needs children and their siblings.

Roads to Recovery's resource centers include fenced in playgrounds, indoor gross motor rooms with occupational equipment, sensory diet stations and hundreds of materials that will suit the needs of all types of students who conduct ASP educational programs for their children with autism. Roads to Recovery's resource center staffs trained therapists, licensed special educators and BCBA's. We are happy to provide a tour to families seeking professional behavior consulting services, tutoring services or educational options.

Roads to Recovery is approved by the Ohio Department of Education as an Autism Scholarship Provider.
